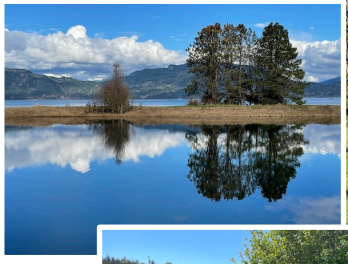
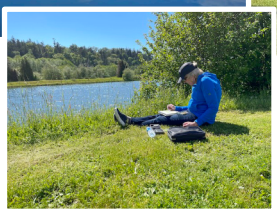
SAMISH ISLAND Art Retreat

SPONSORED BY NWWS NORTHWEST WATERCOLOR SOCIETY





Samish Island Retreat Center is about an hour north of Seattle, WA

The lodge fills with the hum of creativiity, while 80 acres of forests, views, and beaches beckon plein air artists.

Come Join Us at Samish Island Retreat Center (Bow, WA) for a few days set aside just for you and your art. Step away from the to-do list and settle into a serene setting overlooking the water, where the only agenda is your own creative work. Whether you paint, draw, sculpt, stitch, sketch, collage, or something else, you'll find open time, inspiring surroundings, and the company of fellow artists and makers who understand the pull to create. Bring a project you've been putting off, start something new, or simply come to see what happens when you give yourself space to work. The camp provides three meals a day, so you can skip the cooking and spend your time creating.

NWWS sponsors retreats 3 times per year, in February, May, and September.
